Divemaster Scuba Facebook Group

Locally, we are the largest independent dive club with over 1,300 members joining us since 1999. We have had members join us from as far apart as Devon, Scotland and Holland.

Our club and group holidays are legendary. We have also built up a large number of affiliations with other dive clubs, dive centres and individuals all over the world.

There is a large contingent of both PADI and BS-AC qualified members as well as most other diving agencies represented.

Facebook is a social networking web site which is interactive and provides an excellent vehicle for promoting events, keeping in touch with club activities, meeting new dive buddies and generally finding out what is going on. We also have short videos and a picture gallery which will keep you amused.

Join up and join in with us at www.facebook.com. Log in and search for the Divemaster Scuba Group, and have some fun.

Diving with seals: Farne Islands

Blessed with some beautiful late summer sunshine we booked two boats and took to the Farne Islands in search of some playtime. A mixed group from beginners to instructors, everyone helped to make the trip a resounding success.

The seals were as playful as ever, tugging at diver's fins and swimming circles around us. From the stunning seascape to the huge crabs, lobsters and wrass everything was just about as perfect as it gets. Take a look at the video on Facebook or our web site.

At a cost of around £100 per person for two nights b&B plus two days diving this was also great value.

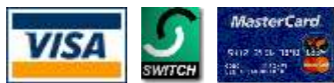

So good in fact, that we have forward booked two trips for next year.
